

You CAN have a Bigger Penis

- You are free to distribute this book to anyone you think will find this information beneficial.

This is a transcript of a discussion with a man who became a successful male model. His modeling career only started after he improved his self confidence and that change came about through his pursuit (and eventual success) of improving the size of his penis. You will read about the considerable expense and wasted time that it cost him and the eventual breakthrough that came about with information gleaned from a gay sex shop assistant.

Note: In comprehensive random size tests, it has been shown that gay men are on average 1/2 inch bigger in both length and girth than heterosexual men. The reason for this is explained later in this report.

Please read on and hopefully we will be able to help you make the right decisions that can change your life...

My name is Matt and the best way I can help you is by giving you a background of my journey and subsequent success. I do believe that my story is no different than that of thousands of men who are working at increasing the size of their penis on a daily basis. Fortunately for me, I found the secret to successfully increase my penis size permanently.... And I must emphasize the word 'permanently' because we all know that a penis pump can make the penis look bigger for a few hours.

What a penis pump can't do, is make it bigger permanently, and more importantly it really only affects the girth and not the length.

Increasing penis length is a whole other task that involves precise techniques or the results will be extremely small if at all.

For me – I did have some results, however ¼ inch increase in length for the considerable time I had spent with penis exercises just wasn't a suitable improvement that was noticeable enough to warrant all the time and expense.

I knew there had to be an answer because there were so many other factors that pointed towards the ability to increase penis size.

I will talk about this shortly

Here's my story...

If you're anything like me you will have already tried to increase the size of your penis and unless you know the secret to getting a bigger penis you will have either lost a pile of money or a whole lot of time – probably both.

I have never met another guy who hasn't wanted his penis to be bigger.

Listen – I am going to be frank here and talk about lots of stuff that most guys don't like to talk about to one another.

For starters – I have often looked at other guys penises in the showers at the gym. I've looked at my mates penises when they've been getting changed or having a shower.

I don't tell them and they don't know I have done this but HEY, I'm as curious as the next guy and we all do it.

You probably have too but you don't have to tell me ☺

Why do I feel the need to mention this? SIMPLE – We're all the same.

We all want a bigger penis, we all look at another guys' penis when no one is looking and we never admit it.

It's funny because at the end of the day it is just another part of the body and if it was a finger we wouldn't give it another thought BUT IT ISN'T!

The penis is THE MOST IMPORTANT part of the male body BAR NONE!

Well that's what guys think anyway, and there are certainly many factors in our lives that are affected by our penis.

Confidence is one of the first things to come to mind.

Did you know that one of the greatest fears of a man is to be naked in public? Sure there are many men who will seem to be totally uninhibited but there is always that underlying factor that a simple laugh will make all those fears come flooding back.

It's true – I have known guys who seem totally carefree about flaunting their penis only to feel embarrassed and unconfident if someone makes a comment about their lack of size.

On the other hand I know a few men who have (what could be classified as) an oversize penis and they are ALWAYS CONFIDENT. They don't even care if anyone else makes derogatory remarks or if someone were to laugh they wouldn't even think it was about them.

They are big – they know they are big, and that gives them immense confidence.

In fact that confidence spills over into all aspects of their life and they are all the more successful for that reason.

They get more partners, they have more sex and they have more fun.

AND – part of the reason they get so many more partners is because word of a big penis spreads fast.

EVERYONE – and I mean EVERYONE knows the guy with the big penis.

Girls talk to one another and before you know it all the girls know.

AND – you guessed it – they all want to take a look... AND MORE!

How do I know this?

I have a sister and it was through her that I found out about a guy who had a huge penis.

My own sister asked me if I had seen him in the shower at the gym because he went to the same gym as me.

I hadn't, but even I was curious and no I am not gay - I have no problem with gay guys, and in fact the best information I found about penis enlargement came a gay guy, but I wanted you to understand that we are all the same and as a straight guy even I had to see the size of his penis.

So what do you think I did?

I went to shower at the gym at the same time he did and when I thought no one was looking I took a gander at his penis just to see if it was that much larger than mine.

Well I have to admit that, at the time, it was certainly bigger than mine and I must also admit that it was very impressive.

I can only guess what it would have looked like when it was erect but even the length that it was hanging flaccid would have made it a whopper.

Did I tell my sister? Yes I did actually but the information had already done the rounds by then and it seemed that every girl (and every guy) in town knew about him.

I would have liked to have asked him how he got such a big penis but how do you approach a guy in the shower and start talking about his penis?

He would have probably hit me right between the eyes (even though he was only of average build himself)

And that's another thing that struck me – this guy looked completely 'average' when fully clothed yet he had that air of confidence about him and the ability to always have good looking girls hanging out with him, and all I can put it down to is the fact that he had such a huge penis.

Now I know what you're thinking – Did my sister ever see it? NO – not as far as I know, because she had a steady boyfriend but a few of her 'unattached' friends did and they all talked openly about him.

Talk about advertising – This guy only needed to show one girl and 'word of mouth' took over, giving him all the opportunity in the world to get the girls.

You've probably seen all those websites selling their techniques on how to pick up women – Well let me tell you... If you've got a big dick and act half normal most of the time, the girls will be flocking to you.

Do you know – with all the videos and pictures that are freely available on the Internet of nude men with big dicks, most women have seen enough to form an opinion on what they should be getting and to come up short these days just isn't good enough any longer.

Women expect a big penis, and while a big penis isn't necessary to have good sex, it certainly does improve the experience for both parties no matter what anyone else might tell you to make you feel good.

So what is the solution?

Well there's lot's more to this story than just telling you what worked and what didn't because unless you read what I have to say you will do what I did and waste lots of time and money and I wouldn't like to think you would do that.

What Did I Do?

I read all the websites and believed all the information that they posted with doctors recommending penis pills and all sorts of other stuff that I look back at now and ask myself – "How could I have been so dumb?"

Imagine thinking that a pill could make my penis bigger. I never did believe that pills could make my penis 2 or 3 inches bigger as they said because that was too much to expect but I really did believe that I might get another inch or so in size.

And do you know why I believed that?

Well it was partly because I thought the people telling me it would work were trustworthy and could be relied on as professionals with the necessary authority to do so, and the other reason why I believed it was because...

I WANTED TO BELIEVE IT WOULD WORK.

Yes – I really wanted the pills to work because I needed something to work and every new opportunity I found made me think – This is the one!

Unfortunately this wasn't to be so and now I do believe with all the research I have done and all the trial and error I have been through I am more qualified to give you advice that you can rely on – not the so-called specialists!

Do you know what the difference is between me and them?

I actually succeeded in making my penis permanently longer and bigger after trying everything I could get my hands on and all they did was sell me dreams.

Unfortunately dreaming about a big penis and actually getting one are very different.

Here was the problem – no one knew the truth, yet it was so simple.

And do you know why most people don't know?

Because no one talks about it to one another AND no one wants the next guy to have a bigger penis!

It's TRUE! - And here's how I can prove what I am saying....

Would you like all your friends to have huge penises and for yours to be small?

See – No one wants to be the underdog and when it comes to penis size – all guys would love to have the biggest penis on the block.

Once I had a big penis I was less concerned what anyone else thought. My confidence levels had increased considerably too.

Do you know – I never wanted to take a pee in public toilets because I felt self conscious. There is a medical term for that condition and it is something that is extremely common amongst men of all ages.

Maybe it affects you and maybe it doesn't but I can tell you that there are MANY positive factors that come about from increasing the size of your penis and it's not just about size at the end of the day.

The confidence that you will get from penis enlargement can be quite considerable.

Even if it only makes you feel more confident about taking a shower in the gym or peeing in public toilets when there are others present – life just gets so much easier... And that's got to be good for you don't you think?

Anyway – back to what I was saying. As I became less concerned about what others thought, I was able to talk about things that I was too embarrassed to talk about previously, and guess what this meant? I started telling my mates how I built up the size of my penis.

It's TRUE! I told all my mates.

We were a little pissed one night (which probably accounted for part of the reason why I started talking) but I decided – What the heck... I wanted a bigger penis and I got one.

And do you know the funny thing about the conversation? All of my mates (and I mean ALL of them) wanted to know exactly what I had done.

They were all pleased that I told them.

By being completely honest (as they knew I was) they thanked me for telling them.

They lost their inhibitions and talked to me about the size of their penis. Well I'd already seen their penises in the showers and there was no hiding the fact that we all knew what each other looked like AND they knew exactly what I looked like now too.

I didn't realize that they had been wondering how my penis got bigger. They were too scared to ask 😊

Sometimes men would be a lot better off if they talked more openly about things like this – just as women are more open.

If women had penises they would all be talking about theirs and you can be sure they would all be trying to make them bigger and more beautiful.

My mates were just like you and me – taking pills, using pumps, using penis enlargement exercises and anything else they could do to get a bigger penis.

And just like me (prior to finding out what worked) they had very little size increase to show for all the time and money they had spent.

So I told one of my mates and then another and another and guess what? They all started making good gains in size and they were permanent.

We had a laugh about it often because as a group we all had more size than any of the other guys in the gym and we all noticed others looking at us when we didn't have our clothes on.

It certainly boosts the ego and it would be quite easy to get conceited however I am not that type of person. I like to help people and to see the transformation that came about from sharing this information with others made me feel better than ever.

And that's why I decided to write up this information and give it away for free so anyone who read this would stop losing time and money and get straight onto what works and get the results.

As you are reading this now I know 100% you will get a bigger penis and that's great.
Good on you for taking action and improving yourself and your life.

I can prove to you that what I am about to tell you works because I have done this myself and in doing so I have increased the size of my penis considerably.

That picture you see on the book cover... That's me. I'm a lot bigger when erect but I wanted to keep the picture suitable for anyone to look at without getting offended.

I see no reason why a picture of a nude male (me) would offend someone and it proves that enlargement is possible when you can see what an ordinary guy like me can do.

Anyway – back to the gay guy that I mentioned in the beginning.

He is the reason I finally got the gains I was looking for.

I must admit it was embarrassing at first, but after I had been into the local adult shops on more than one occasion to buy a penis pump first, then an assortment of penis enlargement pills he decided to tell me what I needed to know one day when there was no one else in the shop.

He didn't even know all the things I had spent money on over the Internet but he could see that I would continue to buy stuff that didn't work and continue to get nowhere.

He gave me a link to a medical website that showed the results of penis size surveys where people were actually measured by the researchers.

He was proud to tell me that the surveys showed gay guys had bigger penises on average than heterosexual guys.

There was a reason for this...

More gay guys practice penis enlargement techniques than heterosexual guys.

But here's why they are more successful at penis enlargement...

Gay guys speak more openly about all matters relating to their sexuality and they are comfortable talking to one another about penis enlargement.

And do you know what happens when a whole lot of guys start talking to one another about penis enlargement and what has and hasn't worked for them?

Sooner rather than later they find out what works the best and what is a complete waste of time.

I was fortunate to have this information shared with me and I feel happy to be sharing it with you.

There is one thing that worked considerably better than anything else...

Penis Traction or Penis Stretching Devices.

I had heard about them but that was one form of penis enlargement that I hadn't tried.

What a fool I had been.

Do you know why I hadn't tried these devices?

Because I thought the initial outlay was a little too much yet I had spent a whole lot more than the price of several of these devices on all the other crap that I thought would work.

Sometimes it's better to bite the bullet and spend enough money to get the right stuff the first time and get the results you're after.

It's cheaper in the long run and more importantly these things really do work.

It was only afterwards that I found out that most penis enlargement surgeons recommend the use of penis enlargement traction devices after penis enlargement surgery to maximize the benefits of the surgery.

What I didn't realize and what most people don't know is the fact that the traction devices add more size than the penis enlargement surgery and most people would be far better to skip the surgery and just use the traction.

Not only is it safer but it is also far, far cheaper than surgery.

AND – most surgery isn't successful anyway.

So there you have it – No other form of penis enlargement other than a traction device will ever give you the size that everyone promises.

Anything else will eventually cost you more money unless you realize early on that they don't and won't work.

I wouldn't like to think that you would waste all the time and money I did before I got lucky and was told the real secret of penis enlargement from a gay guy in an adult store.

One word of warning here: There are some sites on the Internet that show you how to build your own traction devices. Don't even consider them because there is the potential of permanent damage when using devices that aren't designed to do the job properly.

Here is what I believe to be the most honest site you can rely on for penis enlargement advice. www.propenisreviews.com

They don't even review penis enlargement pills because according to them they don't work and they have the same opinion on penis pumps and most of the penis enlargement exercise programs that are promoted on the Internet.

They do recommend the penis enlargement traction device that I used so I know they know what they are talking about because I am proof that it works.

That's it – do like I did and you will get what I got – A BIG penis.

I hope this information has been helpful and saves you hours of time and stacks of money.

Here's the website you should look at again... www.propenisreviews.com

Cheers,
Matt